MEMORIAL

Proposed For Father Ryan the Loved Southern Poet Priest.

Stirring Appeal of Rev. Father
Eaton of St. Mary's Church.

Endorsed by Bishop Allen and National and State Boards.

SOUVENIRS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The nature of the enterprise, unfolded in the following appeal to Hibernians and Catholics of the country, especially those of the South, should prove impelling motives to a warm interest in the memorial to the Rev. Father Ryan, the poet-priest of the South, projected by the Rev. Father T. J. Eaton, of Mobile, State Chaplain of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Alabama, endorsed by the entire National Board:

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 1, 1917.—At the last national convention held in Boston, July 18-22, 1916, one of the delegates from Alabama was the writer, Rev. T. J. Eaton, then and now State Chaplain of Alabama. Through the great kindness and courtesy of the national officers I was permitted while there to present to the national convention the idea of building a memorial church to the poet-priest of the South, Father Ryan, whose name should be enshrined in every Irish heart. The church over which I have the honor to be placed is St. Mary's, Mobile, Ala., and St. Mary's church and rectory are known as the "home of the poet-priest Father Ryan," one of the many objects of interest in the ancient city of Mobile. Here it was that Father Ryan dreamed and here it was that his great heart burned with a passionate love for our native holy Ireland, so dear to the exiles from its loved and watching hills. Today St. Mary's is a very modest weather-beaten frame building, entirely unworthy as such of the memory of the gentle mystic with whose fame it is inseparably associated. We hope to be able to replace it with a more lasting and resplendent tribute in stone, and for this we beg for the co-operation of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, feeling that as the mother can not forget the son she bore, nor a nation her illustrious children, neither should we Irish forget those sons of Ireland who have given additional lustre to the race. We did not forget saucy Jack Barry, and we will not forget Father Ryan. In the long list of the Ancient Order's good deeds, written in letters of gold, none would be more indelibly inscribed than the order's promotion of the projected memorial to the poet-priest. Even were it possible to complete that memorial without the inspiration of the Ancient Order, still it would be incomplete if the name of the Irish race in the United States and Canada were not in some way connected with it through the medium of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary. Hence I appealed to the national convention graciously and generously granted more than I requested. Indeed I am sure that your delegates will recall that the members of the convention not only were in favor of the plan but were enthusiastic over it. All I asked the convention for was its sanction to my approaching the different divisions in the United States and Canada with the view of getting them interested. This the convention granted by unanimous voice, and moreover unanimously passed a resolution that any appeal sent out by me should be signed by all the national officers. This is my appeal then, and appended to it are the authorized signatures of the national officers, as well as the signatures of the State Presidents of Alabama, John A. Hughes, 161 South Warren street, Mobile, Ala., to whom as well as to the writer or Bishop Allen donations may be sent. The movement has the cordial approval of the Bishop of Mobile, Right Rev. E. P. Allen, D. D., a stalwart friend of Ireland, and any inquiries addressed to him about me will, I know, be satisfactorily answered. Now you may ask why do I presume to impose this task upon the Hibernians at all? Are they not sufficiently and abundantly burdened with their own responsibilities in church and parochial work, local and general? I know it and it would be a sad day in ecclesiastical history when priests would forget the splendid self-sacrificing part played in church affairs by the loyal sons and daughters of Erin the world over. Yet am I asking you to do something for the memory of our beloved Father Ryan.

First—Because we Irish in the South can not build a fitting memorial to him, and surely he should have one—we are too few and too poor.

Second—Because the fame of our deathless Irish dead, among them Father Ryan, should be perpetuated in some such worthy manner, and the movement would not be an Irish one if it were not universal.

Third—Because Father Ryan belongs to the Irish; he is our own.

KERNAN

New Yorker Now Commissioner
With American Enemy Overseas.

Resigns One of Most Important Railroad Positions in Country.

Will Devote Himself to This Work until the War Ends.

MAKING TREMENDOUS SACRIFICE

Resigning his position as Vice President and general counsel of the New York State Railways and Mohawk Valley Company, Walter N. Kernan, of Utica and New York City, one of the most prominent railroad men in the State of New York, will devote himself to the work of the Knights of Columbus Committee on War Activities in Europe until the end of the war. Mr. Kernan sailed Tuesday for England and after a few weeks spent in that country will go to Paris, where he will establish offices as Knights of Columbus Commissioner with the American delegation.

T. J. Eaton,
State Chaplain of Alabama.

P.S.—We shall render a statement of receipts and expenses to the national convention.

COL. E. M. HOUSE.
Probable representative of United States at Peace Conference.

MORE CHAPLAINS SAIL.

Five chaplains, all thoroughly American in spirit, although they represent five different nationalities, sailed for France Tuesday, where they will minister to the spiritual needs of Uncle Sam's fighting men under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus Committee on War Activities. They are Rev. John B. DeValles, of North Dighton, Mass.; Rev. Oslan Boucher, of New Bedford, Mass.; Rev. Michael Nivard, of Sparta, Wis.; Rev. Camille De Loux, of New Milton, W. Va., and Rev. John J. Sullivan, of Tuckahoe, N. Y. Father De Nivard is a Portuguese; Father De Loux is a Belgian; Father Sullivan is a Frenchman and Father Sullivan an American of Irish extraction. All speak French and while all of them, with the exception of Father Sullivan, are of foreign birth, they are American citizens and have long been residents of this country.

SODALITY FALL FESTIVAL.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Martin's church are ready with a grand fall festival for their friends, to be held next Monday and Tuesday in the school hall at Snively and Gray. There will be eucharist and lotto both evenings and amusements and refreshments. There will be a door prize of $2.50 in gold each night.

families in the State of New York, both of his grandfathers, William Kieran and Nicholas Devereaux, having come to this country from Ireland in 1799, shortly after the Fenian rebellion. William Kieran settled in Steuben county, New York, where he became a prosperous farmer. He was a member of the militia and during the war of 1812 was a Brigadier General. He was a member of the New York Legislature in 1830.

VINCENTIAN CONVENTION.

The national convention of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of the United States is now in session in this city, and will conclude its work tomorrow afternoon. Going to press before the first session, the Kentucky Irish American can not print the proceedings until our next issue. Thursday the delegates began arriving, and from John A. Doyle, President of the Particular Council of Louisville, it is learned that the attendance will be the largest ever known. The programme as given last week will be carried out in full. Cardinal Gibbons will be here and deliver an address as a delegate to the convention. Aside from the Cardinal another speaker and delegate will be George Gillispie of New York City, President of the Superior Council of the order in the United States. Some of the leading dignitaries of the church in the country will also attend the convention.

Messrs. Edward Bosler, William P. McDonough and George Nabers have planned an elaborate entertainment in honor of the distinguished guests. One item in the entertainment programme includes a trip of inspection to Camp Zachary Taylor.

Delegates to the session are expected to go on record as approving whole-heartedly the war plans of the President. Cardinal Gibbons, who in recent addresses urged all Catholics to stand behind the President and to give their time and energy in the Liberty loan bond campaign, probably will touch upon war subjects in addresses.

Owing to the fact that the Government recently increased the number of men in a regiment from 1,200 to 3,600, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America and representatives of the Catholic church are making a united effort to secure an increase in the number of chaplains in the service. Delegates are expected to endorse this proposition at the convention here.

Last night there was a public meeting of the convention, presided over by the Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue, of this city, at which addresses were delivered by Chairman John A. Doyle, Secretary Alfred T. Geisler, of the Metropolitan Central Council of Indianapolis, and other dignitaries. This morning there will be a special mass at the Cathedral, when the Superior Council and local Vincentians will receive holy communion. Two sessions for the Superior Council only will close the convention.

RECENT DEATHS.

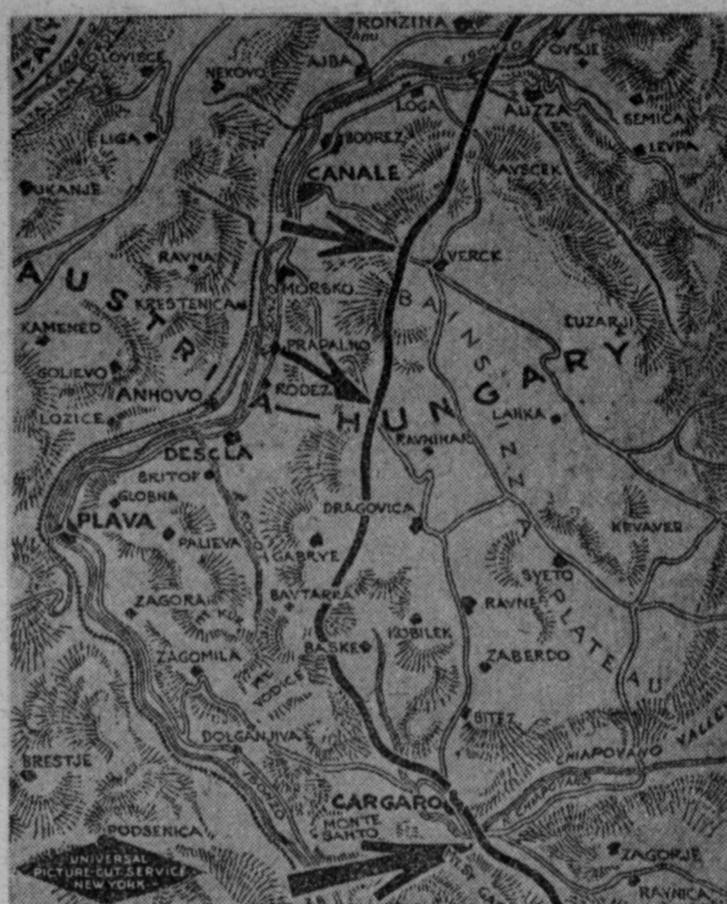

William P. Clair, aged forty-nine, a well known coppersmith, residing at 504 North Nineteenth street, died Tuesday of pneumonia, with which he was stricken two weeks before. He leaves a wife and several children, for whom there is deep sympathy. The funeral was held Friday morning from St. Patrick's church.

Six brothers and four sisters and a wide circle of acquaintances mourn the death of Miss Emma Hartung, aged twenty-four, which occurred Sunday night at the family residence, 2819 St. Xavier street. She had suffered a lingering illness and the end was not unlooked for. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Cecilia's church.

In resigning his position with the New York State Railways, Mr. Kernan is making a tremendous sacrifice, as his work with the Knights of Columbus committee will be gratuitous. He is one of several prominent business men who have practically forsaken their own business in order to further the welfare work which the Knights of Columbus are doing in behalf of the American soldiers. He has received the cordial endorsement of Cardinal Gibbons, Cardinal Farley and Cardinal O'Connell in addition to that of many other members of the Catholic hierarchy in this country. Cardinal Amette, Archbishop of Paris, has also endorsed this work and has given assurance that a hearty welcome will be accorded the Knights of Columbus Committee when he reaches France.

Walter N. Kernan has been a prominent figure in New York railroad and business circles for many years. He is a son of the late Francis Kernan, who in 1863 defeated Roscoe Conkling for Congress and who served as United Senator from New York from 1875 to 1881. Walter N. Kernan became a member of the law firm in Utica founded by his father and was counsel for various street railway companies in Utica, Rochester, Syracuse and other cities in Central and Western New York. He had charge of the organization of the New York State Railways, in which all of these properties were combined. Since 1901 he has been closely associated in business with Horace E. Andrews, formerly of Cleveland. Mr. Kernan has long been prominently identified with Knights of Columbus affairs and is a member of the Utica council of that organization.

No more representative Catholic could have been selected for this important mission, since Mr. Kernan is not only a man of broad business experience and keen judgment but is also recognized as a Catholic leader. He is descended from one of the older Catholic families in the State of New York, both of his grandfathers, William Kieran and Nicholas Devereaux, having come to this country from Ireland in 1799, shortly after the Fenian rebellion. William Kieran settled in Steuben county, New York, where he became a prosperous farmer. He was a member of the militia and during the war of 1812 was a Brigadier General. He was a member of the New York Legislature in 1830.

LAST HOPE

For Struggling Catholic Mission
Conducted by Vincentian Fathers.

Parish in Far Off China Covers Hundreds of Square Miles.

Hardships and Sufferings That Both Priest and People Undergo.

LETTER FROM FATHER M'ARDLE

Catholic Mission, Ha-Chow, Che-Kiang, China, Sept. 1, 1917.—It may be contrary to your custom to print matter of this sort, but if so I can only pray you to make an exception, and assure you that in doing so you will be performing a very great charity toward the mission of Ha-Chow. Ha-Chow, whence I write, is a big city forming the center of an extensive parish in the diocese of Che-Kiang West, Caine—a diocese in the hands of the Vincentian Fathers under Bishop Faveau, C. M. This parish covers many hundred square miles of territory, having district chapels 10 miles from the city of Ha-Chow. It is a young parish, being opened up only fifteen years ago.
Its first pastor selected the city of Ha-Chow as the most convenient center to work from. In the city he bought ground and built a house chapel, i. e., upstairs serving as a priest's house. An outhouse was fixed up as the boys' school and a Chinese house was procured for the girls' school.
This good priest did not apparently expect Ha-Chow to develop, at least the ground of the mission would seem to indicate that.
It is hemmed in by a canal and streets. Now we are in trouble.
We must enlarge our premises, but the site will not permit extensions. We can not very well buy up streets and canals. Again we can not hope to make good here in this confined area, so we must move out. We shall have to procure this land, erect a complete new mission plant, church, schools, house, etc. Under present conditions that means an outlay of from $8,000 to $10,000. A big sum, but surely not an impossible sum!
A new mission station at headquarters is absolutely necessary.
It will greatly increase the results of our labors in the districts and it will also enable us to make progress in the city. At present in the city we have to struggle against two large American Protestant missions with their splendid buildings and large army of workers. We with our present miserable establishment can not successfully keep up the struggle. If help is not forthcoming we must go under.
Note that the missions are American, so surely American Catholics have a duty to help us.

I would ask readers of this paper to consider these facts, the necessity of the work and the good results consequent upon its completion, and to give the work the assistance it deserves. It is purely God's work for the spread of Holy Church. I do not ask nor expect Kentucky Catholics to provide all the money. I simply appeal to all to give what they can, even the smallest trifle, even a dime. All will be useful and welcome.

I may be told that this appeal is ill-timed, that the United States are now at war. Well, I can only reply that I have been trying for several years to gather this money but without success. This is the last hope. The matter rests with Americans. If they refuse our mission will be little better than a failure; if they respond with their usual generosity then we shall prosper.
The States are at war, but has the war made a great difference in American non-Catholic contributions to the foreign missions?
And consider poor, little Ireland in this year of trouble and strife giving hundreds of thousands of dollars and so many priests, students, Sisters and brothers to the Maynooth
Mission to China! Will Kentucky Irishmen and Catholics give a lesser proof of their faith and charity when the question of the church in this part of China is concerned? I feel certain all will be well. Please do not let my last hope and the last hope of the mission of Ha-Chow be disappointed!
Any who wish to send donations—no matter how small—may address them to my Bishop or may direct them to me at the above address.
It would be well also to mention that the case of Ross was a good one to begin with. In his speeches on the stump the Republican candidate for Sheriff has been telling on what a high plane he would conduct the office of Sheriff if elected, his statements varying wide from his conduct in the primary and at the registration. The Herald in its smug hypocritical manner failed to even publish the statement of the Republican repeated who made affidavit to the effect that Ross had hired him to register illegally, and prefers to throw mud at the police officers because they weren't able to save Heffernan from injury when the latter was traveling at random serving warrants as a county patrolman.

In a paid advertisement just previous to the August 25th, Wood Axton, burglar of the Louisville Herald that one of two men (meaning Chilton and Seay) were trying to dominate the Republican party and said in bold type "Destroy the machine that is destroying the Republican party" and advocated the nomination of Dover for Sheriff, Bonner for Jailer, Elsenmenger for County Clerk, Groves for Coroner and Wells for Balliff. In the indictment of Ross, the successful Republican nominee for Sheriff, the grand jury charged that Ross tore thirty-six ballots from the Republican ballot book on primary election day and voted thirty-five for himself and half that number for the other candidates opposed to Axton's choices. Thus far there has been no protest from Axton, nor the Louisville Herald, which published Axton's advertisement, and one's curiosity is aroused as to what method was used in persuading Axton to enroll under the banner of "the machine that is destroying the Republican party." As for the Herald, the veriest school boy knows that its policy has been hypocritical from the first and since the two guiding lights, Jones and Seay, were forced to eat their words in the Cronan libel suit their sole motive now is revenge for that mortification.

The expose of Ross and the failure of the Republicans to make their claims good in the purging of the registration has thrown a boomerang into the camp of the Republicans and they are now fighting with their back to the wall to hold their own in the campaign. The drift to Cronan and the Democratic ticket continues steadily and Democratic leaders predict that the ticket will receive nine-tenths of the independent vote. Then again the negro vote, the biggest asset of the Republican party in years, has fallen away below its standard because of the departure of many negroes to Northern cities, and the registration figures of 17,000 out of a total of 49,000 do not offer much encouragement to the Republican campaign managers. The campaign methods have also met with a lot of criticism, the injection of the religious question in an underhanded way and the anonymous mailing of mud-gutter literature having a tendency to disgust the average citizen. The speakers have met with a decided frost and the speakers have used poor judgment. For instance, a Mr. Yarberry, one of the leading Republican orators, paces Louisville as a city to a frazzle, saying the old burg is going back every minute and that no new factories are coming here, etc., etc. This looks like a case for the Boosters' Club, but the mystery to many of Yarberry's hearers is that if he dislikes Louisville so much after his short residence here of four or five years, why doesn't he take advantage of the many trains and boats leaving here daily?

The roar of indignation that went up from Democrats in this vicinity at the attempted undermining of the Democratic ticket by the Louisville Times caused Editor Hallderman to carefully retrace his steps. Using the Hatzell-Heffernan brawls was but a flimsy excuse to criticize the whole Democratic party, and to make that attack because of the defeat of Greene and Woodruff was less justifiable. Two facts stand out, Greene and Woodruff were fairly and squarely beaten in the primary, and the word of Attorney A. J. Bizot, Sergeant Borders and Patrolmen Simeon and Connelly is just as good as that of Sellman and Chilton.

THE TIMES SEES THE LIGHT

Taking a tip probably from the columns of the Kentucky Irish American last week, the Jefferson county grand jury indicted William Ross, the Republican nominee for Sheriff on two counts, charging offenses against the election laws in the August primary and having abetted illegal registration. Ross' offense in the registration of last week was mentioned specifically in these columns, and the suggestion was made to the Louisville Herald that if the latter was sincere in its prosecution of election offenses then the case of Ross was a good one to begin with. In his speeches on the stump the Republican candidate for Sheriff has been telling on what a high plane he would conduct the office of Sheriff if elected, his statements varying wide from his conduct in the primary and at the registration. The Herald in its smug hypocritical manner failed to even publish the statement of the Republican repeated who made affidavit to the effect that Ross had hired him to register illegally, and prefers to throw mud at the police officers because they weren't able to save Heffernan from injury when the latter was traveling at random serving warrants as a county patrolman.

BARREN GROUND.

While Louisville is being flooded every week with copies of the A. P. A. mudgutter organ of Aurora, Mo., all indications point to the fact that its efforts to disturb the waters in the coming local campaign are falling on barren ground. The average Protestant citizen seeing their Catholic fellow citizens ready to do and die for their country, are not prone to believe that they are a menace to the country or its institutions.

GRATIFIES CATHOLICS.

The appointment of Walter N. Kieran as Knights of Columbus Commissioner with the American overseas army should be gratifying to every Catholic in this country. First it shows the tremendous strides the Catholic people of the United States are taking in the way of military welfare work through their chosen representatives, the Knights of Columbus. Secondly it shows that the spirit of the old faith is not dead and that those to whom it is a precious heritage are still willing to make heroic sacrifices that its work may go on in accordance with the divine will of Him who said: "Go forth and teach all nations."

Mr. Kieran is a man of big affairs, one of several prominent business men who are making like sacrifice that this good work may O'Leary's assumed leadership of the Irish people and their cause in this country. The American Truth Society, of which O'Leary posed as President, was a myth, and the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the largest Irish Society in the world, had indignantly repudiated his false representation more than once.

TORY GAME.

To those who have a live interest in the old land Irish newspapers furnish very unpleasant reading nowadays. Indeed we venture to say that not even the chronicle of Germany's occupation of Belgium could furnish more gruesome reading. In Ireland it appears all semblance of law has been dispensed with, its place being taken by the drumhead court-martial, which at best is nothing more than a machine to convict and punish regardless of the guilt or innocence of the accused. Courts of English law in Ireland are usually not courts of justice, but nevertheless they have some regard for the rules of evidence, and offer a chance of acquittal to the accused. The courts-martial, however, offers no chance, and this is so well recognized that accused persons invariably decline to plead. This would not be so bad, but the fact that men are every day haled to these courts on the most ridiculous charges, and many have been given terms of imprisonment for such crimes as carrying a hurley, wearing clothes of a greenish color, walking "in step" with a neighbor or two, and other equally high crimes and misdemeanors, and woe to the Nationalist who wears a volunteer uniform, and all this in the twentieth century and at the hands of a government that poses before a purblind world as the champion of liberty and democracy and the rights of small nations. Of course this orgy of persecution has a purpose behind it—to blacken the character of Nationalist Ireland in the eyes of the enemies of the allied powers, particularly the United States, whose President has declared emphatically that all peoples shall have secured to them the rights of self government and a participation in the economic opportunities of the world. Ireland is a state of rebellion could not hope to enlist the good offices of an ally of England, hence the Government is doing its utmost to arouse the people to active hostility. The good old Tory game!

PATRIOTISM.

Patriotism, genuine patriotism, is a beautiful thing. It is not noisy. It never shouts itself hoarse from the houseposts. The thousands of young men who volunteered for active service in the ranks did so quietly. There was no brass bands and hurrahing about their entry into the war. It remained for those who were not amenable to the draft to associate patriotism with ear-splitting noise. These notoriety-seekers have done more to cheapen patriotism, if not destroy it, than a million pro-German propagandists could have done in a million years, for who would regard patriotism as a virtue that sees it used as a lever to push the private ends of loud-mouthed snobs. A good rule for these would be "buy a Liberty bond and shut up."

ALLIES AND OUR MONEY.

Subscriptions to the new Liberty loan are flowing into the treasury in a veritable torrent. This is as it should be. Everyone who can afford to do so should buy a bond. That is their duty. A quick and hearty response will do more to bring about peace than reams of peace talk, for it will prove to the enemy that Americans mean business and are in the war to win. At the same time it would be well to let the Allies understand that American money will not be thrown into their outstretched hands without a proper equivalent. England should be told that American blood and treasure will not be expended in the war while she is left to coddle her three million trained slackers in the camps at home and another million in Egypt, and while her fleets are permitted to preserve a splendid neutrality. England should be compelled to do her bit. Her policy of holding aloof practically while friends and foes alike are exhausting themselves must be discontinued, otherwise the United States should see to it that our support in men and supplies is given only to those allies that are doing the fighting. Investors in the new loan have a right to insist on this. Meanwhile the bonds are on the market and the first duty is to see that they are oversubscribed in the shortest time possible.

WELL SAID.

Commenting on unreasonable critics, the Canadian Freeman puts these pertinent questions:

"How would it be if we criticized the critics just for a change? What's the matter with our asking them what they have ever done for the Catholic press? Have they paid their subscriptions? Have they obtained any subscriptions? Have they ever written a line for publication? If the Catholic paper is not all that it should be what are they doing to remove the reproach? The way to have a strong Catholic paper is not to sit back in comfortable armchair and shy bricks at the editor. If the critic is genuinely anxious to strengthen the Catholic paper it would be far more to the point for him to shy subscriptions and articles at the editor's head. If every Catholic family will take a copy of the paper and pay for it the editor will attend to his job."

We agree with our Canadian contemporary and wish to add that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the most severe critic of the Catholic press is the fellow who borrows his neighbor's copy every week or reads the paper in the Catholic club rooms.

FALSE REPRESENTATION.

The expose of Jeremiah O'Leary in the Government investigation this week is specially pleasing to the patriotic Irish and Irish-American citizens who have always rebelled at the City Hall.

LANG—MARRA.

Miss Cora Gertrude Lang and Thomas M. Marra, both prominent in Jeffersonville society circles, were married Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock at St. Augustine's church in the presence of a large number of friends. Nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Michael Halpin in an impressive manner and the ring ceremony was used. The attendants were Miss Carrie Lee Sorg and William Cole. Miss Nell Hill rendered a violin solo, "O Promise Me," and accompanied Prof. A. A. Voit, who was at the organ, in the Mendelssohn March as the bridal party entered the church. An elaborate musical programme was given before and after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Marra left later for West Virginia and will be at home after October 25 in their new residence, Court avenue and Fulton street.

ANOTHER REASON WHY WE FIGHT.

ACTIVE RED CROSS.

Headquarters of the Louisville Chapter of the American Red Cross have been moved from 619 South Fourth street to 317 Guthrie street. Due to the fact that rumors have been circulated to the effect that articles made for the Red Cross are being sold to the public and soldiers R. C. Ballard Thruston, Chairman of the local chapter, has received a letter from H. D. Gibson, General Manager of the American Red Cross, with offices at Washington, which denies this and in which he says:

"No article whatever, either knitted or otherwise, made by Red Cross workers and turned into any Red Cross chapter, branch or auxiliary, is sold either to the soldiers in the shops. If any willful case of this sort should come to the attention of headquarters or of the division office the charter of the Red Cross chapter or subsidiary sanctioning it would be immediately withdrawn with full publicity."

The Louisville Chapter encourages the giving of entertainments for the benefit of the Red Cross, but in order to avoid all misunderstandings it must insist that it be notified before such entertainments are advertised as Red Cross benefits. Beginning next Tuesday a class in home nursing will be established at the new headquarters, with Miss Nan Dorsey as instructor.

FATHER DANIEL.

It was with regret that many people of Holy Cross parish heard that Rev. Daniel McGuire, C. P. pastor of the church, had been transferred to the pastorate of St. Agnes church, Louisville. Father Daniel had been pastor for the past four years, and won himself many friends among the people of Mt. Adams. He left yesterday for his new station. Rev. Cletus Brady, C. P., who was recently made vice rector, succeeds him as pastor. Catholic Telegraph.

COVINGTON.

The Right Rev. Bishop Brossart has received word that the new marble altar for his private chapel has arrived at the railroad yards in Cincinnati, and will be transported to Covington as soon as possible. It is an artistic work of Carrara marble and was imported from Italy, the long delay in transit being caused by the war.

BUILDS TENTH CHURCH.

Archbishop Christie will early in November dedicate the new St. Rita church in Kellogg, Idaho, which will cost $8,000, the amount being raised during the past year. This will be the tenth church built in the State by Rev. Thomas J. Purcell, the pastor.

ANCIENT IRISH VESTMENTS.

A special feature of the recent Oireachtas exhibition in Ireland was the antique vestments preserved in the Cathedral at Waterford and loaned for the occasion by Bishop Hackett. These vestments were presented to Waterford about the year 1200 by His Holiness Pope Innocent III.

MUST MAKE KICK.

The Milwaukee Citizen has had another liver attack. Now the army chaplain suffers its displease and receives this fling:

"In the matter of army chaplains—not quantity, but quality. Lay social secretaries can do better work than some types of army chaplain who hobnob with the Colonels and hold aloof from the rank and file. Let us be zealous; but let us also be sensible."

POTATO SCONES.

One large cup freshly boiled mashed potatoes, two small cups sifted flour, one round tea-spoonful of lard or other shortening, one egg well beaten, pinch salt, one large teaspoonful of sugar. Mix well together with sweet milk. Turn on a floured board, roll out into triangles. Bake in quick oven until nice brown. Split and butter. Serve hot with jelly or jam.

WANTED NO HANDICAP.

"Now, boss, I's ready to go anywhere you wants to send me," said a dusky citizen in a Southern city on registration day, after performing his patriotic duty. "Boss, jes' anywhere. But I ask jes' one thing—dat is don't put me in NO cavyary."

"Why do you draw the line on the cavalry?" asked the registrant.

"It's jes' like his. When I's told to retreat, I don't want to be bothered with NO hose."

ST. CATHERINE'S GUESTS.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Louis Bertrand's church will journey to St. Catherine's Academy at Springfield tomorrow morning, where they will be the guests of the Dominican Sisters for the day. They will leave in automobiles tomorrow morning at 6:30 and will be in charge of Rev. E. A. Baxter, chaplain of the sodality.

MAMMOTH EUCHARIST.

The annual fall mammuth eucharist and lotto of Trinity Council promises to eclipse all events of that kind given in the past and the Committee of Arrangements report the largest prize list in history. It will be a two days' affair, Wednesday and Thursday, October 24 and 25, with a dance on the closing evening.

ST. BRIGID'S.

A euchre and lotto will be given by the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Brigid's church, Baxley and Pepperton, on Monday and Tuesday evening, October 29 and 30. Lotto will be played on Monday evening and euchre on Tuesday evening. Games will be called at 8:15. A tally prize will be given and welcome to all.

ST. THOMAS' ENTERTAINMENT.

Sunday afternoon, October 21, the boys of St. Thomas' Orphanage will give an entertainment under the auspices of Trinity Council. Y. M. I. The Sisters in charge of St. Thomas' have very kindly consented, at the solicitation of Trinity Council's Literary Committee, to permit the boys to produce this entertainment for the members and friends of Trinity Council. The entertainment will be given at the club rooms of the council and there will be no charge for admission. The public is largely extended a cordial invitation to be present and witness this entertainment, which will be one of the best features of Trinity's fall literary programme. There will be in addition to the entertainment by the boys several solos and selections by well known local talent.

ANNUAL CHARITY BALL.

The ninth annual pageant and charity ball given by the Orphans Pleasure and Waller Doll Club will be held at the Armory next Thursday evening. The ball this year had to be staged a little earlier in the season in order to turn over the Jefferson County Armory to the War Department, and will give the public its only opportunity to see what a vast work the Government is doing there. The entire proceeds of this ball are used to furnish a happy Christmas for all the orphans of Louisville. The pageant that proceeds the ball will start at 8 o'clock and the ball will start promptly at 9:15.

BISHOP IN DEMAND.

Right Rev. Bishop Busch, of St. Cloud, Minn., has been receiving much recognition at all patriotic demonstrations, not only locally but also in the surrounding counties. Last week he delivered no less than six addresses, speaking chiefly on loyalty to country and giving practical and sincere heart to heart talks to the drafted men from the local districts. At Belgrade he organized a branch of the Red Cross and spoke on Red Cross work.

WILL HELP FUND.

The Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Society of Cincinnati will have no rally day parade this year, but instead will receive communion in their parish churches and in the afternoon will attend special services and renew the Holy Name pledge. The money usually spent for the public parade and demonstration will be turned into the Knights of Columbus fund for the conservation of the faith and morals of the soldiers.

TAKE NOTE.

It is more than gratifying to note in the daily press, that section fearless enough to give all the news, that the Catholic men and women of the country have contributed millions of dollars to the war fund of the nation where other "persuasions" have chipped in only thousands.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND.

On Tuesday, September 11, the venerable Archbishop Ireland began his eightieth year. The Archbishop was born at Burnchurch, County Kilkenny, Ireland. On next December 21 he will be fifty-six years a priest. Bishop Grace consecrated him Bishop on December 21, 1875.

WOMEN IN SHOPS.

In many of the large factories in the vicinity of Bridgeport, Conn., where shells and cartridges are being manufactured, milling machines, lathes, drills and planes are being operated by women.

SOLDIERS' RATIONS.

By Dr. L. Caze in La Revue (Paris). The American soldier will certainly be the best fed soldier on the western front since he receives every day 510 gr. bread, 12 gr. butter, 37 gr. of preserves, 567 gr. of potatoes, 340 gr. of bacon, 680 gr. of beans, 18 gr. of fat, 18 gr. of vinegar, 30 gr. of coffee, 90 gr. of sugar and 140 gr. of concentrated milk.

This food value, as a whole, represents energy to the amount of 1,191 calories.

The rations of the French, the English and the German soldiers are on a comparative level: 3,340, 319, 3,147 calories, respectively.

Those of the Austrians are on a lower scale, really insufficient; they represent only 2,620 calories.

The Russian receives most of all, his ration being equal to 4,929 calories.

Is there any relationship between these rations and the fighting value of the soldiers?

ST. CECILIA'S.

A pleasing programme has been prepared for the musical, euchre and lotto to be given by the La-Salle Club of St. Cecilia's church in the school hall on Tuesday evening, October 16. The proceeds will be for the new school.

NEW ALBANY.

New Albany Council, Knights of Columbus, observed Landing day on an elaborate scale. The celebration was held at St. Joseph's Hall on Friday night, when a high class programme was presented. G. E. Weinmann delivered an address and the excellent musical programme was in charge of Miss Ella Lawrence Gardiner.

URGES GOOD ROADS.

In all the churches of the Covington diocese last Sunday a pastoral letter was read, in which the Right Rev. Bishop Brossart urges the building of good roads in Kentucky. Bishop Brossart holds that too much money has been wasted by officials ignorant of the work.

ANOTHER SUN ECLIPSE.

Rev. Martin S. Brennan, priest astronomer of St. Louis, foresees a total eclipse of the sun on June 8, 1918, which will be most plainly visible in Florida, where there will be total darkness, but St. Louis and Louisville will witness a considerable result of the eclipse.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Philadelphia has 100 divisions. Division 3 will meet next Friday evening.

Our Louisville Ladies' Auxiliary will soon forward its army mass outfit.

Five hundred delegates attended the County Board quarterly meeting in Philadelphia.

President John Riley, of Division 3, is proud of the success of last week's initiation.

Division 2 of Syracuse had a good initiation last week. The quarterly report was very encouraging.

John Ryan, one of the order's veteran members, made a rousing talk at Division 4 Monday night.

Don't forget the Hibernian Social Club's entertainment next Wednesday evening at the Norman Theater.

In San Francisco the Ladies' Auxiliary has organized an Irish history class for children, tuition being free.

Hibernians in Central New York have issued many challenges for "forty-five" games and anticipate an exciting season.

Mrs. John McCue has been elected President of the Ladies' Auxiliary at St. Joseph, one of the live divisions in Missouri.

In the Hibernian rooms at Cortland, N. Y., Charles McDonald, recently enlisted, was presented a handsome gold watch.

National President McLaughlin's recent stirring address in Congress was read by Tom Langan at the division meeting Monday.

The trip of Mrs. Mary McWhorter, National President, to the New England States, has aroused much spirit and enthusiasm.

The past year has been the most successful in the history of the Ancient Order in Denver, which is in a very flourishing condition.

All New York is looking forward to the entertainment and ball of the Hibernians, the social event of the year, on November 2. Boxes are $10 each.

The Ancient Order of Portland, Ore. will stage a play next Thursday night in Hibernian Hall, the proceeds to be given in aid of the Catholic army chaplain's fund.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of San Francisco a mass was said on Friday morning of last week in St. Mary's Cathedral for the peace and harmony of our nation.

Through the efforts of the Ladies' Auxiliary the Rev. L. J. O'Hern, C. S. P., last week received contributions for the purchase of five more mass outfits for Catholic chaplains.

To show the appreciation of the order to the members and their friends for the enthusiasm and zeal shown during the past year Denver Hibernians entertained with an informal social and dance that was largely attended.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of New Albany makes steady progress. Catherine Cody, the County President, was presented a beautiful pin and gold coin for her splendid work among the cyclone sufferers, many being members of the order.

Division 27 of Olyphant, Pa., favors calling an Irish race convention, wherein the real position of the citizens of Irish birth and descent may be stated in a clear, concise and intelligent manner and refuting the misrepresentation that has been spread throughout the country.

Congressman Joseph McLaughlin, of Philadelphia, National President of the Ancient Order, delivered a stirring address at the County Board meeting. Of him it is said that, while he does not distract himself in stilted, ultra-precise elegancies of utterance, he makes sound, practical, business-like talk. He has won substantial, well-merited distinction during his brief career in Congress.

CRONAN—GALVIN.

A beautiful and impressive ceremony was witnessed in St. Charles church Wednesday morning, when Miss Anita Cronan and Frederick J. Galvin were united in合法 marriage. Rev. Charles P. Raft celebrated the nuptial mass. The church was filled with admirers and friends of the lovely bride and groom. Miss Aline Cronan was her bride's maid of honor, and Charles J. Cronan, Jr., brother of the bride, was Mr. Galvin's best man. The ushers were Messrs. Thomas Evans Owen and Thomas J. Griffin. The bride entered the church with her father, Charles J. Cronan, by whom she was given in marriage. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents at Spring Bank for the bridal party and a few close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Galvin are spending their honeymoon in Chicago, and on their return will be at home at 3625 West Chestnut.

GLORY FOR YEARS.

The Knights of Columbus baseball team added new laurels to their already long string of victorious achievements when they defeated the world-champion Class A Kleich club of Cleveland in the second game of the national series and had the visitors on the retrograde move in the third and deciding contest, which was called on account of darkness during the first half of the fourth, the score reverting to three full rounds of play and the tally standing five to three in favor of Manager Cline's Twin City pennant winners. This remarkable result stands out as the stellar achievement in local baseball circles. The Knights were soundly trounced in the opening game. Not a fan who witnessed that crushing defeat could be found who had the courage to predict the spectacular comeback which was staged by the locals in the second and third games. But it happened just the same and the world's championship was saved. To the average spectator the result was naturally pleasing. But to the rank and file of Twin City players and followers it was a wonderfully inspiring performance—a fitting climax of stellar play—defeating the title-holders of a world's honor.

Not in the history of forty years of organized baseball has any other local club accomplished such a feat. Never have we boasted a team that displayed like stamina and courage in the face of almost certain defeat. These sturdy blue-clad athletes would not be denied and they battled forward and onward until they won. Honor and credit is their due and Manager Cline, Bossmeier, Cresci, Bohannan, Ballard, Hammond, Hamilton, Kenealy, O'Brien, Clifford, O'Loughlin, Boser, Lebre, Curley, Franz and Weber are recipients of our heartfelt felicitations and best wishes. They have won a place in the lists of baseball immortals. The glory of their victorious deeds will live long in the years yet to come.

CAMP TAYLOR NEWS.

Last Sunday Chaplain E. S. MacNeasey celebrated mass in club building No. 2 at Camp Zachary Taylor at 9 o'clock. About 250 attended and fifty soldiers received holy communion. At 10 o'clock mass was celebrated in Auditorium building on the Poplar Level road, attended by nearly 2,000, a very small number being civilians. Several communicated, and after mass breakfast was served in the Secretaries office by the Queen's Daughters. It is inspiring to see these good men come in such numbers and behave so gentlemanly during mass, and this surely is an indication of the appreciation on the part of the boys quartered in Camp Zachary Taylor.

The time and place for masses will continue the same, and confessions will be heard both afternoon and night on Saturday and early Sunday morning.

The organ which was so kindly donated by Mrs. Duane has been installed and on Sunday the Concord Singing Society, with a choir of forty voices, will sing the high mass at the auditorium. This voluntary service is surely to be commended highly and no doubt the soldiers will feel deeply grateful for being remembered in this manner, and will crowd the auditorium to the utmost capacity. It is again respectfully requested that civilians give the soldiers preference to the seats.

Major Neal Powers, U. S. A., conferred the third degree on twenty of the men of the Yerba Buena Island naval training station at the initiation of San Francisco Council.

Emery Auditorium was crowded for the Cincinnati Chapter celebration of Discovery day. Ex-Gov. Walsh, of Massachusetts, was the speaker and his ability as an orator was maintained.

The K. of C. building at the camp was crowded with soldiers Sunday afternoon, who enjoyed the "play by play" story of the Chicago-New York game fresh from the Herald wires.

Plans and hopes of the Knights at La Crosse have at last borne fruit in the purchase of a valuable piece of property in the heart of the city, where they will erect a handsome home building.

F. W. Durbin, of the Committee on War Activities, writes that William B. Kuper is certainly putting Camp Zachary Taylor on the map. The latter has suggested ideas that may be followed everywhere.

Fifteen members of Cosgrove Council at Dunlap, Iowa, called as recruits for Uncle Sam's army were given a farewell reception and presented with identification bookslets and rosaries in leather cases.

Newport was ablaze with patriotism for Columbus day. The entire block south of the Court House was roped off and chairs occupied the street, which was brilliantly lighted and beautifully decorated. Gov. Stanley delivered the address, and city and county officials and every fraternal organization in the city participated in the patriotic function.
